Abstract

The IB Primary Years Programme (PYP) places a strong emphasis on agency in the classroom, empowering students to take an active role in their learning process. In this session, we will explore the concept of agency within the context of the IB PYP and its impact on classroom dynamics. It highlights the key principles and strategies employed to promote student agency, such as student voice and choice, goal-setting, inquiry-based learning, and reflective practices. It also outlines the benefits of fostering agency in the classroom, including increased student engagement, motivation, and ownership of learning. Furthermore, it discusses the role of teachers as facilitators, guiding and supporting students as they navigate their learning journey. The abstract concludes by emphasising the importance of cultivating agency in the classroom as a means to develop lifelong learners who are empowered to make meaningful contributions to their communities and the world.

Guest Speaker

Ms. Tina Tian Boyu (田博宇) currently serves as the Chinese Adviser at English Schools Foundation. She holds dual master's degrees, including a Master of Education (MEd) in teaching Chinese as a second language and a Master of Arts in International Educational Leadership and Change from Eduhk. With a rich background in education, Ms. Tian Boyu possesses 18 years of teaching experience, delivering Chinese language instruction in diverse international school settings across Mainland China and Hong Kong. She is a dedicated and passionate educator, prioritising student-centred learning and encouraging students to take ownership of their educational journey both within the classroom and beyond. Last year, Ms. Tian and her team actively engaged students in extracurricular activities, such as participating in the Chinese Battle of Books, where they achieved first place among nine international schools in Hong Kong.
